Brent:

Following your feedback on the bureaus, I asked the bureau chiefs to let me know what they feel they are not getting from Headquarters in terms of information. I believe the attached letters are interesting, and I forward them to you for your information.

I think the basic problem is that with FBIS expanding and modernizing there is little time to keep everyone informed of everything. Sure, we can do a better job, and we will try.

One thing that disturbs me is the lack of concern for or appreciation of security. We simply cannot send our lists to all bureaus of people going and coming from other Agency offices, Prod Group people, etc. The Chin case is only one example of my security concerns. FBIS people will simply have to realize that they are part of the Agency.
